A Timely Present.

Tom was a colored boy of about twen-y-five in a Southern town, and he was any and d-less, but not so much so that did not manage to get along some-ow. And Tom fell in love, for Cupid is no is specier of color or condition, but he went up against his poverty at the first move and then he began to think of a way cut. As an experiment he went into the office of the clerk who presided over the marriage licenses. "Colonel,"he said, "if Ise a gwinter git married would you give me a weather present?"

"W II, Tom," replied the colonel, "I'm not in that business, but seeing that it is you I think I might do something. What would you like to have? Some-thing useful?"

RESULTS SATISFACTORY.

THE PERLING AS TO THE OUTCOME OF THE ROANOKE CONFERENCE.

> General Lee Still Undecided as to the Propriety of Holding the Convention, Senator Daniel's Advice.

ROANOKE, VA., May 16.-Special .-Senator Daniel and Major Otey returned home last night, after the work of the conference on the question of the constitutional convention had been completed. Most of the other visiting gentlemen returned home to-day. The feeling here is that the main purpose has been accompaished even though the attendance was not as large as the leaders had reason to expect, and as seemed to be expected by the general public through the tate. The resolutions are regarded as con-The resolutions are regarded as con-servative. They are not as radical as many of the members of the con-ference and as some of the committee on resolutions desired. It was proposed that the party be asked to make the question a definite issue in the legisla-tive campaign, but it was urged that this could not be done without a State Convention of the party, and this was not considered desirable at this time, SENATOR DANIEL'S ADVICE.

SENATOR DENIEL' ADVIC.

Senator Daniel's advice had great weight in the committee, and the resolutions were drawn by him, and he declared that he did not hesitate to give them the further endorsement of his signature. It is fair to presume that they fairly represent his attitute. While there were various suggestions upon which all could not agree, it was finally concluded that it was best to avoid a declaration as to the details of the changes that are needed. It seemed to be the unanimous as to the details of the changes that are needed. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion that a constitutional conventional is needed, chiefly because of the expense of the present State government, and that the most important reason for a convention is the necessity of a more economic administration. It was believed that all friends of the movement could meet upon, and that it was best to confine the resolutions chiefly to this, leaving details to be considered after the main object of the convention has been secured. While the leaders were disappointed in the attendance, they declare that it is best as it is, as a large crowd that it is best as it is, as a large crowd would have meant more elaborate dis-cussion, and, perhaps, intemperate and injunicious speeches.

THE R SULIS SATISFACTORY. W. O. Hardaway, who has been active in the matter, says that he considered the results satisfactory. The main object was agitation, and that had been accomplished. In addition to this a definite declaration had been made to the Democrats of the State, signed by some representative men, including the senior United States sensitor. ORNERAL PUR. LEE'S VIEWS;

CENERAL FITZ. LEF'S VIEWS.

LYNCHBURG, VA., May 16.—Special.—
General Fitz. Lee has not given the subject of the proposed constitutional convention much thought as yet, and in expressing himself with regard to it, says foat he favors most conservative action. At this time the amount to be realized from the next assessment in the State is in doubt, and the Commonwealth may not be in proper condition financially to incur the extra heavy expense so incidental to holding of the convention. This is one of the items that, in his judgement, should be considered in advance. There are other sides of the question, that it may be well to consider carcuity before any definite steps are taken, and he is, therefore, inclined to the opinion that for the present the movement had better be deliberate. Senator Damiel is out of the city.

LAN . UAGE OF THE HEN,

Many Different Calls She das for Different

The ordinary domestic fowl affords the most positive evidence of the possession of a language that is understood. There are many decidedy different calls, which if taken down in a phonograph and repeated in a hen house or yard would produce interesting results. I need but mention a few calls to illustrate the ranke of sounds in the domestic fowls. On a warm day, when hens are released from their coop, when their minds are undisturbed any disturbing element; an entirely dif-ferent sound is heard. The hen stops stretches her head upward, and with th-cock utters a decided note of warning it a high falsetto, k-a-r-r-r-e; And if thenemy still comes on it is repeated, and every bird in the vicinity lowers its head and runs to cover. The sound says in the gallus language: "An enemy is coming run!" and run they do, the kerr-kerr kerr being discontinued only when all danger is pagt. Note the joyous call of the hen that has laid an egg. Cut-cut, ca-da-cut comes often repeated from the hen house, and other envious hens are informed beyond any question or mistake that Mrs. Gallus has laid an egg.

Now, when the eggs are histched we have other and maternal notes. There is a deep, monotonous cluck! that is a warning to others and a gentle admonition of the chicks to remain near, but it is not a call. Note the difference when the mother or proud cock finds a worm. The cock appears to be greatly excited, and he pretends to peck at it, make the guileless hens believe that he is about to devour the bonne houchs himself, all the time be is saying cut, cut, cut,-come, come-rapidly, which causes the hens to run pell-mell in his direction, to find in many instances nothing, being merely a device to call the flock away from some rival. But in the case of the mother the little ones always find some nithii which she has discovered.

I will not attempt to reproduce the baby talk of the old hen to her chicks, but it exists in great variety, and is susgestive of tendernoss, affection and soutched. bird in the vicinity lowers its head

When the hen has her brood beneath her ample folds she often utters a sound like c-r-a-w-z-z-e of half warning and contentment. And when an intrudar enters the coop after dark she utters a high, prolonged whistling note like w-h-o-o-e, softly repeated, indicative of wonder and slight alarm.

CHURCH DROWSINESS, The Cust of to ... s srate & ks.

I have a scientific explanation of the somnoience which overtakes people in church. I used to think that it was duli-ness of the sermon which provoked the ness of the sermon which provoked the sleep of the congregation. One remembers the actor who gave a private reading of his play to a company of his friends, and when he was done asked their opinion. At last, when one began to speak, the playwright interrupted: "You can have no opinion; you were asleep." "Ah," replied the critic, uo you not know that sleep is an opinion." And sleep is certainly an opinion, and not an especially flattering one.

But it may not mean that the sermon is really dull. I have seen people sleep in church under all mannes of circumstances, and in the hearing of the most than usual earnestness and power, yet I remember once in Worcester seeing a minister, clad in surplice and stole, and seated in the chancel, go straight to sleep while the canon preached, disregarding the eyes of the congregation. And once when Mr. Gore delivered a sermon in that great abbey where he is now canon, people who sat in my neighborhood went to sleep in shoals.

No, my theory is that most times when the congregation sleep during the sermon they are simply hypnotized. For consider the situation. Most of the conditions which the hypnotist desires are present. There is a dim and subdued light in the room; the atmosphere is somewhat close, the temperature is high; somewhere behind the speaker, in a position which compels the eyes of the congressation, is a jet of gas or a sharp gleam of electricity, into which they look as the sermon proceeds; and the preacher goes on and on and on, in a sentle and monotonous voice, and down and up like a mother's initiaby; and behold, our eyellds are pressed down against our will by soft invisible fingers, and everything is deliciously vague and far away, and suddenly people stand up with an awakening sound about us, and the preacher is pronouncing the ascription at the end of his sermon, during whose wise and eloquent paragraphs we have humiliatingly slept. This is hypnotic sleep. And it is the fault, not only of the preacher, but of the whole construction of our ill-ventilated and absurdly lighted churches.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

With the growth of the city further up With the growth of the city further up town, the moving away of the big hetels and the encroachments or stores and ware-houses in the eighth precnict, the fifteenth, or Mercer street precinet, became the Tenderloin. Its reign was trier. The twenty-ninth (now the nineteenth) precinct, the present Tenderloin, extends from Fourieenth to Forty-second street, and the western boundary is Seventh avenue. It takes in both sides of Broadway and has a larger number of hotels than any other precinct in this city. The part that gave it its unsavory reputation lies and has a larger number of hotes and any other precinct in this city. The part that gave it its unsavory reputation lies between Sixth and Seventh avenues and Twenty-third and Thirty-fourth streets. At one time both sides of Sixth avenue were largely taken up with concert saloors, and among these in the Tenderloin were the Buckingham, the Star and Garter, the Cremorne, the Empire, the Sims Soud, the Argyle, and the Haymarket. Sixth avenue between Twenty-third and Thirty-fourth streets at that time was as much crowded by night as Broadway is now by day. Arrests were many, and strangers visiting New York came to this neighborhood as one of the sights of the town.

and steel prices than the one just ending. The advance of binst-furnace wages in the Shenango Valley mear to the 1822 level, with a 19 per cent, increase at several Pittsburg furnaces coming in its train, was followed by the sensational strike of the Carnegle Steel Company, in adding 19 per cent, to the pay of all its men, though its contract with them would continue through the year the scale fixed January 1st. The pace thus set will hardly be disregarded elsewhere, and added labor-cost will be made up by higher prices on products. In spite of repeated assertions that advances in price could only be sustained by a marked excould only be sustained by a marked ex-pansion in the demand for finished pro-duct, the market has been demonstrating week by week that the lifting power is being applied at the other end. Coke-workers' wages and coke prices were put up in advance of any improvement in the market for furnace and foundry pro-ducts. Then Bessemer prices went up in advance of a better pig-iron outlook. Now blust-furnace wages have been in-creased beyond anything immediately warhave preceded the various steps to high er ground. With current pig-fron production at the rate of eight million ten a year, and stock somewhat reduced a April, there is evidence that from is goin into consumption at a rate nearly two hundred per cent. faster than in '31. It the past week, a special cause has helped the market for bessemer pig. Buying it the Valleys, and at l'ittsburg, for shipment to Chicago, in anticipation of a long strike, brought the prices to $10.75 at Valley furnace.
